Description of Advisory Firm

Trail Financial Planning LLC, AKA “Trail Financial,” is registered as an Investment Adviser with the State of Washington. We were founded on April 28, 2017. John Chesbrough CFP® and Elizabeth Snyder are the principal owners of Trail Financial Planning LLC. The firm is successor to a previous registered investment advisory business known as “John Chesbrough, Investment Advisor,” that had been registered since October 2012. As of December 31, 2019, Trail Financial has $11,176,388 discretionary assets under management.

We provide the following services:

- Financial planning
- Investment management
- Wealth Management – a combined comprehensive financial planning & investment management

Here are details of the services we offer:

Financial Planning Services

Overall description of financial planning

Financial planning is the process of evaluating and analyzing a client’s current and future financial state. A primary focus of the work is establishing goals, and helping the client plan for and manage their finances to achieve those goals. A planner uses currently known variables to predict future cash flows, asset values and withdrawal plans. We offer both targeted and comprehensive financial planning. The key aspect of comprehensive financial planning is that all questions, information and analysis will be considered as they impact and are impacted by the entire financial and life situation of the client (see detailed list of Financial Planning topics starting on page 9). Targeted financial planning focuses on only one topic.

Description of comprehensive financial planning services

Comprehensive financial planning. We assess a client’s values and goals, and analyze their use of current financial resources to reach their goals. We address a client’s full financial life, (see list of potential financial planning topics below). We create strategies for how a client may manage their financial resources in the future, in alignment with a client’s values. We may help the client with implementing specific strategies.

Targeted financial planning. In this service, we address one specific area of a client's financial life such as cash-flow planning, college planning, or an investment review.

Fees pertaining to financial planning are outlined in Item 5 of this brochure.

Disclosure of potential conflict of interest: There may be a conflict of interest when creating an implementation plan, because some of the recommended services may also be offered by the planner. Client and advisor should address the conflict during the delivery of implementation plan.

Topics of Financial Planning

Financial planning topics may include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Business Planning: We provide consulting services for clients who currently operate their own business, are considering starting a business, or are planning for an exit from their current business. Under this type of engagement, we work with you to assess your current situation, identify your objectives, and develop a plan aimed at achieving your goals.
- Cash Flow and Debt Management: We will conduct a review of your income and expenses to determine your current surplus or deficit along with advice on prioritizing how any surplus should be used or how to reduce expenses if they exceed your income. Advice may also be provided on which debts to pay off first based on factors such as the interest rate of the debt and any income tax ramifications. We may also recommend what we believe to be an appropriate cash reserve that should be considered for emergencies and other financial goals, along with a review of accounts (such as money market funds) for such reserves, plus strategies to save desired amounts.
- College Planning: Includes planning to both save for, apply to, and pay for, college. Saving for college projects the amount that will be needed to achieve college or other post-secondary education funding goals, along with advice on ways for you to save the desired amount. Applying to college can be financially strategic by selecting institutions that are a good financial match for the student. Paying for college includes utilizing all available resources such as financial aid (if eligible), gifts from family, loans, tax credits, as well as accumulated savings.
- Employee Benefits Optimization: We will provide review and analysis as to whether you, as an employee, are taking the maximum advantage possible of your employee benefits. If you are a business owner, we will consider and/or recommend the various benefit programs that can be structured to meet both business and personal retirement goals.
- Estate Planning: This usually includes an analysis of your exposure to estate taxes and your current estate plan, which may include whether you have a will, powers of attorney, trusts and other related documents. Our advice also typically includes ways for you to minimize or avoid future estate taxes by implementing appropriate estate planning strategies such as the use of applicable trusts.

We always recommend that you consult with a qualified attorney when you initiate, update, or complete estate planning activities. We may provide you with contact information for attorneys who specialize in estate planning when you wish to hire an attorney for such purposes. From time-to-time, we will participate in meetings or phone calls between you and your attorney with your approval or request.

- Financial Goals: We will help clients identify financial goals and develop a plan to reach them. We will identify what you plan to accomplish, what resources you will need to make it happen, how much time you will need to reach the goal, and how much you should budget for your goal.
- Insurance: Review of existing policies to ensure proper coverage for life, health, disability, long-term care, liability, home and automobile.
- Investment Analysis: This may involve developing an asset allocation strategy to meet clients' financial goals and risk tolerance, providing information on investment vehicles and strategies, reviewing employee stock options, as well as assisting you in establishing your own investment account at a selected broker/dealer or custodian. The strategies and types of investments we may recommend are further discussed in Item 8 of this brochure.
- Retirement Planning: Our retirement planning services typically include projections of your likelihood of achieving your financial goals, typically focusing on financial independence as the primary objective. For situations where projections show less than the desired results, we may make recommendations, including those that may impact the original projections by adjusting certain variables (i.e., working longer, saving more, spending less, taking more risk with investments).

If you are near retirement or already retired, advice may be given on appropriate distribution strategies to minimize the likelihood of running out of money or having to adversely alter spending during your retirement years.

- Risk Management: A risk management review includes an analysis of your exposure to major risks that could have a significant adverse impact on your financial picture, such as premature death, disability, property and casualty losses, or the need for long-term care planning. Advice may be provided on ways to minimize such risks and about weighing the costs of purchasing insurance versus the benefits of doing so and, likewise, the potential cost of not purchasing insurance (“self-insuring”).

- Tax Planning Strategies: Advice may include ways to minimize current and future income taxes as a part of your overall financial planning picture. For example, we may make recommendations on which type of account(s) or specific investments should be owned based in part on their “tax efficiency,” with consideration that there is always a possibility of future changes to federal, state or local tax laws and rates that may impact your situation.

We recommend that you consult with a qualified tax professional before initiating any tax planning strategy, and we may provide you with contact information for accountants or attorneys who specialize in this area if you wish to hire someone for such purposes. We will participate in meetings or phone calls between you and your tax professional with your approval.

Investment Management Services

We offer investment management service through our own in-house service model, and through the use of third party money managers.

In-house Investment Management Services

We manage individually tailored investment portfolios. Those portfolios may follow a passive or active management strategy, or a mix. Our firm provides continuous advice to a client regarding the investment of client funds based on the individual needs of the client. Through personal discussions in which goals and objectives based on a client's particular circumstances are established, we develop a client's personal Investment Policy Statement with an asset allocation target and create and manage a portfolio based on that policy and allocation target. During our data-gathering process, we determine the client's individual objectives, time horizons, risk tolerance, and liquidity needs. We may also review and discuss a client's prior investment history, as well as family composition and background.

Account supervision is guided by the stated objectives of the client (i.e., maximum capital appreciation, growth, income, or growth and income), as well as tax considerations. Clients may impose reasonable restrictions on investing in certain securities, types of securities, or industry sectors. Fees pertaining to this service are outlined in Item 5 of this brochure.

We do not have any account size limitation for passive management strategies, but we do have a minimum account size of $100,000 for actively managed accounts.

Investment Advisory Services - third party money managers

We also offer investment advisory services by referring clients, where appropriate, to third-party money managers (“Outside Managers”) for portfolio management services. We assist clients in selecting an appropriate allocation model, completing the Outside Manager’s investor profile questionnaire, interacting with the Outside Manager and reviewing the Outside Manager. Our review process and analysis of outside managers is further discussed in Item 8 of this Form ADV Part 2A. Client may impose reasonable restrictions on their account. Additionally, we will meet with the client on a periodic basis to discuss changes in their personal or financial situation, suitability, and any new or revised restrictions to be applied to the account. Fees pertaining to this service are outlined in Item 5 of this brochure.

Account minimum: There is no minimum account size for this service.

Wealth Management

We offer a combined comprehensive, ongoing financial planning and investment management service to our clients. Each component is the same as described above, but delivered under one fee structure.

Educational Seminars and Speaking Engagements

We may provide seminars on an “as announced” basis for groups seeking general advice on investments and other areas of personal finance. The content of these seminars will vary depending upon the needs of the attendees. These seminars are purely educational in nature and do not involve the sale of any investment products. Information presented will not be based on any individual’s person’s need, nor does Trail Financial Planning LLC provide individualized investment advice to attendees during these seminars.

Client Tailored Services and Client Imposed Restrictions

We offer the same suite of services to all of our clients. However, specific client financial plans and their implementation are dependent upon the client’s Investment Policy Statement which outlines each client’s current situation (income, tax levels, and risk tolerance levels) and is used to construct a client specific plan to aid in the selection of a portfolio that matches restrictions, needs, and targets.

Wrap Fee Programs

We do not participate in wrap fee programs.

Item 5: Fees and Compensation

Please note, unless a client has received the firm’s disclosure brochure at least 48 hours prior to signing the investment advisory contract, the investment advisory contract may be terminated by the client within five (5) business days of signing the contract without penalty. How we are paid depends on the type of advisory service we are performing. Please review the fee and compensation information below.

Fees for Financial Planning Services

Fees for financial planning are based on time worked, and the hourly rate. The rate depends of the level of expertise required to complete the work:

- Administrative assistant: $60/hour
- Associate advisor: $150/hour
- Lead advisor: $250/hour

Fees may be negotiable based on client and lead advisor discussions.

Details about “level of expertise required to complete work:”

Administrative assistant: This type of work is typically clerical in nature, such as data entry or paperwork completion. There is no analysis, or strategy creation, or recommendations as a result of this work. Although the work requires the employee to follow the firm Code of Ethics and confidentiality, it (the work) does not require the employee to have any license or registration to complete.

Associate advisor: This is work to support the lead advisor’s work with a client. The work by the Associate advisor would require, at a minimum, registration as an Investment Advisor Representative under the Registered Investment Advisory firm, Trail Financial Planning LLC.

Lead advisor: Each client is assigned a lead advisor. This is the person responsible for managing the client relationship and all planning work related to the client. The Lead advisor is responsible for making final analysis, recommendation and reporting actions with the client. The work requires, at a minimum, registration as an Investment Advisor Representative under the Registered Investment Advisory firm, Trail Financial Planning LLC.

Fee details for all planning work.

The fee is written into the client-advisor agreement, and is established before any work is done.

At the end of each month, the Adviser will prepare and send an invoice to the client that includes a description of the work completed, the date the work was completed, and the formula used to calculate the which is compliant with requirements set forth in WAC 460-24A-135 (Washington state Administrative Code). Clients may opt to make partial monthly payments to pay off the account balance over time. All work (except for initial deposit as described below) will only be invoiced after the work is completed.

Typically, an initial deposit is requested from the client to secure a spot in the advisor’s schedule. This deposit will be less than $500. Trail Financial will not bill an amount above $500 more than 6 months in advance. Financial planning services may be terminated at any time by written notice. If the planning agreement is terminated, client will be billed for work done, but not yet paid for. If payment was received, but work was not done (such as an initial deposit was received, but the client decided not to proceed with services), a refund will be provided to the client for the amount of payment received less any work completed. Fees may be paid by electronic funds transfer or check.

Fees for Investment Management Services

Our standard advisory fee is based on the market value of the Assets Under Management, or AUM¹, and is calculated as shown in Table 2:

Table 2. Investment Management Fee Structure

Assets Under Management	Annual Advisory Fee
$0 - $500,000	1.00%
$500,001 and above	$5,000 + (0.5% of AUM above $500,000)

Investment management fees may be negotiable. They are pro-rated, based upon time of management, and paid in arrears on a quarterly basis. The advisory fee is a blended fee and is calculated by assessing the percentage rates using the predefined levels of assets as shown in the above chart, resulting in a combined weighted fee. For example, an account valued at $1,000,000 would pay an effective fee of 0.75%. This is determined by the following calculation: $($500,000 \times 1.00\%) + ($500,000 \times 0.5\%) = $7,500$. The AUM is based upon the last open market day of the calendar quarter. No increase in the annual fee shall be effective without agreement from the client by signing a new agreement or amendment to their current advisory agreement.

¹ Assets Under Management, or AUM, are defined by any and all assets that are included in a separate Investment Management contract, and for management of which the client pays a fee to the Advisor.

Advisory fees may be directly debited from client accounts, or paid by check or electronic funds transfer, per client’s choice. An investment management agreement may be terminated at any time with written notice. Accounts initiated or terminated during a calendar quarter will be charged a pro-rated fee based on the amount of time the Client-Advisor Agreement was valid during the billing period. Upon termination, any unearned fee will be refunded to the client.

Members of the same family may combine account values (for purposes of fee calculation) if their finances are enmeshed in such a way as to allow for one Investment Policy Statement and Advisory Agreement to cover all accounts.

Notes for investment accounts held at Betterment Securities, full legal name, MTG, LLC dba Betterment Securities (AKA “Betterment Institutional”

Betterment Institutional provides the advisor with services that could influence the recommendation of Betterment for an Advisor. Such services are described in Item 12. Investment accounts held at Betterment will incur an additional 20 basis point, or 0.2%, annual fee. The fee is consistent for any level of Assets Under Management. The fee table for investments held at Betterment Securities, full legal name, MTG, LLC dba Betterment Securities is illustrated in Table 3.

Table 3. Investment Management (or Wealth Management) Fee Structure if accounts are held at Betterment Securities

Assets Under Management	Annual Advisory Fee
$0 - $500,000	1.20%
$500,001 and above	$6,000 + (0.7% of AUM above $500,000)

When advisory fees are deducted from Investment Management client’s account(s) held at Betterment Institutional, the Adviser will provide an itemized invoice that includes a description of the work completed, the date the work was completed, and the fee for the work which is compliant with requirements set forth in WAC 460-24A-135 (Washington state Administrative Code).

Fees for Wealth Management: combined Financial Planning and Investment Management

For Wealth Management clients, financial planning services (such as described under Item 4) are not billed separately, but are included in an overall engagement. Typically, if a client has more than $1,000,000 in Assets Under our Management, the engagement will be as Wealth Management. The advisor may negotiate the level of AUM at which a client is considered for Wealth Management. The fee charged is the same as described in the previous “Investment Management” service. It is repeated in Table 4.

Table 4. Wealth Management Fee Structure (combined financial planning and investment management services)

Assets Under Management	Annual Advisory Fee
$0 - $500,000	1.00%
$500,001 and above	$5,000 + (0.5% of AUM above $500,000)

Fees are pro-rated, based upon time of management, and paid in arrears on a quarterly basis. The advisory fee is a blended fee and is calculated by assessing the percentage rates using the predefined levels of assets as shown in the above chart, resulting in a combined weighted fee. For example, an account valued at $1,000,000 would pay an effective fee of 0.75%. This is determined by the following calculation: $($500,000 \times 1.00\%) + ($500,000 \times 0.5\%) = $7,500$. The AUM is based upon the last open market day of the calendar quarter. No increase in the annual fee shall be effective without agreement from the client by signing a new agreement or amendment to their current advisory agreement.

Advisory fees may be directly debited from client accounts, or paid by check or electronic funds transfer, per client’s choice. An investment management agreement may be terminated at any time with written notice. Accounts initiated or terminated during a calendar quarter will be charged a pro-rated fee based on the amount of time the Client-Advisor Agreement was valid during the billing period. Upon termination, any unearned fee will be refunded to the client.

Members of the same family may combine account values (for purposes of fee calculation) if their finances are enmeshed in such a way as to allow for one Investment Policy Statement and Advisory Agreement to cover all accounts.

If a Wealth Management client account was held at Betterment Institutional, there would be an additional 0.2% annual fee as presented in Table 3.

When advisory fees are deducted from Wealth Management client’s account(s), the Adviser will provide an itemized invoice that includes a description of the work completed, the date the work was completed, and the fee for the work which is compliant with requirements set forth in WAC 460-24A-135 (Washington state Administrative Code).

A note about excessive fees

As fiduciaries to our clients, we research and discuss the effect of fees on long-term financial health. We aim for our advisory fees to be between 0.5% and 1.0% of Assets Under our Management. However, we recognize that some of our clients without significant Assets Under our Management would be paying a higher fee as measured by “percent of Assets Under Management.” Within the industry, a “reasonable maximum advisor fee” is considered to be less than 2% of Assets Under Management.

However, a client may receive value from our financial planning services apart from the investment management service. Thus, they may wish to engage our services despite the fact that our fees would appear excessive as a “percent of assets under management.” In such a case, where a client is paying a fee higher than 2% of Assets Under Management, we will inform the client of the fee, and disclose to them that it may be possible for them to find another advisor or advisory firm where they can pay less in fees than our firm charges.

Other Types of Fees and Expenses

Our fees are exclusive of brokerage commissions, transaction fees, and other related costs and expenses which may be incurred by the client, and may be the result of our investment recommendation. Clients may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, brokers, and other third parties such as custodial fees, deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Mutual fund and exchange traded funds also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in a fund’s prospectus. Such charges, fees and commissions are exclusive of and in addition to our fee, and we shall not receive any portion of these commissions, fees, and costs.

Item 12 further describes the factors that we consider in selecting or recommending broker-dealers for client’s transactions and determining the reasonableness of their compensation (e.g., commissions).

We do not accept compensation for the sale of securities or other investment products including asset-based sales charges or service fees from the sale of mutual funds.

Item 6: Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

We do not accept performance-based fees for the management of clients' assets. Nor do we have any other affiliated accounts in which we do so (AKA side-by-side management where an adviser manages accounts both with and without performance-based fees).

Item 7: Types of Clients

We provide financial planning and investment management services to individuals, families, small businesses, non-profit entities and trusts.

We do not have a minimum account size requirement for financial planning services and/or a passive strategy of investment management. However, if a client wishes to for active investment management, the minimum Assets Under Management is $100,000. The $100,000 account minimum for active management may be waived in certain cases. In addition, for wealth management services, our minimum AUM is $1,000,000. However, this minimum may be negotiated.

Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Investment Analysis methodology and risks

Investment analysis within financial planning

When clients have us complete an Investment Analysis (described in Item 4 of this brochure) as part of their financial plan, we use a client's goals and risk tolerance/capacity to determine a recommended asset allocation for their investments. We aggregate their current investment accounts, and assess their current asset allocation. We compare current allocation to recommended allocation. We also look at the actual investments, and evaluate the impact of expenses on portfolio performance.

As we evaluate existing client investments for asset allocation and expenses, our primary method of investment analysis is to use fundamental analysis from primary account documents. If such documents are unavailable, we will use a third party supplier of investment research such as Morningstar. We do not use market timing, charting or technical analysis of the market or market sectors in our analysis.

There are many risks to Investment Analysis including the risk that our information is incorrect or incomplete. There is also an inherent timing risk since we mainly advise our clients on issues of diversification, investment allocation and expense management.

Passively managed Investment Management

For our passively managed investment accounts, we primarily recommend low-expense index mutual funds or Exchange Traded Funds. Passive investing involves building portfolios that are comprised of various distinct asset classes. The asset classes are weighted in a manner to achieve a desired relationship between correlation, risk and return. Funds that are passively managed, and aim to capture the returns of the desired asset classes, are considered for inclusion in the portfolio.

Passive investment management is characterized by low portfolio expenses (i.e. the funds inside the portfolio have low internal costs), minimal trading costs (due to infrequent trading activity), and relative tax efficiency (because the funds inside the portfolio are tax efficient and turnover inside the portfolio is minimal).

Actively managed investment accounts

For our actively managed investment accounts, we predominately analyze investments based on Fundamental analysis. Fundamental analysis involves analyzing individual companies and their industry groups, such as a company's financial statements, details regarding the company's product line, the experience, and expertise of the company's management, and the outlook for the company's industry. The resulting data is used to measure the true value of the company's stock compared to the current market value. Our data and information comes from company reports and third-party investment reports. Beyond overall market risk, the risk of fundamental analysis is that information obtained may be incorrect, or the analysis may not provide an accurate estimate of earnings, which may be the basis for a stock's value. If securities prices adjust rapidly to new information, utilizing fundamental analysis may not result in favorable performance.

Active vs. Passive investing

Passive investing is a strategy where investment manager does not pick individual securities, but owns amounts corresponding to a broader index (i.e. the S&P 500 market). As the strategy requires little analysis, expenses are generally much lower than actively managed investments. Active management involves a single manager or managers who employ some method, strategy or technique to construct a portfolio that is intended for a specific purpose. The purpose could be to deliver dividend income, to create a follow a specific investment strategy (such as slowly reducing a concentrated position, or to slowly invest a lump sum), to create a higher risk portfolio with a correspondingly higher potential return, or to invest with a particular set of values (i.e. “socially responsible investing”). If market-beating returns are the only goal, it should be noted that academic research indicates most active managers underperform the market.

Trail Financial Planning LLC does not believe that one strategy is better than another. We believe that the strategy should match the client’s individual goals, financial position and risk tolerance.

Third party managed investment accounts

We employ the use of sub-advisers (“outside managers”). Our analysis of outside managers involves the examination of the experience, expertise, investment philosophies, and past performance of the outside managers in an attempt to determine if that manager has demonstrated an ability to invest over a period of time and in different economic conditions. We monitor the manager’s underlying holdings, strategies, concentrations and leverage as part of our overall periodic risk assessment. Additionally, as part of our due-diligence process, we survey the manager’s compliance and business enterprise risks. A risk of investing with an outside manager who has been successful in the past is that he/she may not be able to replicate that success in the future. In addition, as we do not control the underlying investments in an outside manager’s portfolio. There is also a risk that a manager may deviate from the stated investment mandate or strategy of the portfolio, making it a less suitable investment for our clients. Moreover, as we do not control the manager’s daily business and compliance operations, we may be unaware of the lack of internal controls necessary to prevent business, regulatory or reputational deficiencies.

Material Risks Involved

All investing strategies we offer involve risk and may result in a loss of your original investment which you should be prepared to bear. Many of these risks apply equally to stocks, bonds, commodities and any other investment or security. Material risks associated with our investment strategies are listed below.

Market Risk: Market risk involves the possibility that an investment’s current market value will fall because of a general market decline, reducing the value of the investment regardless of the operational success of the issuer’s operations or its financial condition.

Strategy Risk: The Adviser’s investment strategies and/or investment techniques may not work as intended.

Small and Medium Cap Company Risk: Securities of companies with small and medium market capitalizations are often more volatile and less liquid than investments in larger companies. Small and medium cap companies may face a greater risk of business failure, which could increase the volatility of the client’s portfolio.

Turnover Risk: If an investment portfolio has a turnover rate that is higher than other strategies, it could incur correspondingly greater brokerage commission expenses and may result in the distribution of additional capital gains for tax purposes. These factors may negatively affect the account's performance. If we, as the investment manager, or a third-party investment manager traded stocks at a high rate (resulting in high turnover), this risk would become relevant to portfolio performance.

Concentration Risk: If your portfolio has an investment with a higher than desired concentration based on portfolio allocation, then the investment may have an exaggerated effect on portfolio performance. A position can become concentrated due to excess purchase, or appreciation of the underlying security. The investment manager should keep aware of this risk, and at the very least, inform the client of the risk.

Interest Rate Risk: Bond (fixed income) prices generally fall when interest rates rise, and the value may fall below par value or the principal investment. The opposite is also generally true: bond prices generally rise when interest rates fall. In general, fixed income securities with longer maturities are more sensitive to these price changes. Most other investments are also sensitive to the level and direction of interest rates.

Legal or Legislative Risk: Legislative changes or Court rulings may impact the value of investments, or the securities' claim on the issuer's assets and finances.

Inflation: Inflation may erode the buying-power of your investment portfolio, even if the dollar value of your investments remains the same.

Risks Associated with Securities

Apart from the general risks outlined above which apply to all types of investments, specific securities may have other risks.

Commercial Paper is, in most cases, an unsecured promissory note that is issued with a maturity of 270 days or less. Being unsecured the risk to the investor is that the issuer may default.

Common stocks may go up and down in price quite dramatically, and in the event of an issuer's bankruptcy or restructuring could lose all value. A slower-growth or recessionary economic environment could have an adverse effect on the price of all stocks.

Corporate Bonds are debt securities to borrow money. Generally, issuers pay investors periodic interest and repay the amount borrowed either periodically during the life of the security and/or at maturity. Alternatively, investors can purchase other debt securities, such as zero coupon bonds, which do not pay current interest, but rather are priced at a discount from their face values and their values accrete over time to face value at maturity. The market prices of debt securities fluctuate depending on such factors as interest rates, credit quality, and maturity. In general, market prices of debt securities decline when interest rates rise and increase when interest rates fall. The longer the time to a bond's maturity, the greater its interest rate risk.

Bank Obligations including bonds and certificates of deposit may be vulnerable to setbacks or panics in the banking industry. Banks and other financial institutions are greatly affected by interest rates and may be adversely affected by downturns in the U.S. and foreign economies or changes in banking regulations.

Municipal Bonds are debt obligations generally issued to obtain funds for various public purposes, including the construction of public facilities. Municipal bonds pay a lower rate of return than most other types of bonds. However, because of a municipal bond's tax-favored status, investors should compare the relative after-tax return to the after-tax return of other bonds, depending on the investor's tax bracket. Investing in municipal bonds carries the same general risks as investing in bonds in general. Those risks include interest rate risk, reinvestment risk, inflation risk, market risk, call or redemption risk, credit risk, and liquidity and valuation risk.

Options and other derivatives carry many unique risks, including time-sensitivity, and can result in the complete loss of principal. While covered call writing does provide a partial hedge to the stock against which the call is written, the hedge is limited to the amount of cash flow received when writing the option. When selling covered calls, there is a risk the underlying position may be called away at a price lower than the current market price.

Exchange Traded Funds prices may vary significantly from the Net Asset Value due to market conditions. Certain Exchange Traded Funds may not track underlying benchmarks as expected.

Investment Companies Risk. When a client invests in open end mutual funds or ETFs, the client indirectly bears its proportionate share of any fees and expenses payable directly by those funds. Therefore, the client will incur higher expenses, many of which may be duplicative. In addition, the client's overall portfolio may be affected by losses of an underlying fund and the level of risk arising from the investment practices of an underlying fund (such as the use of derivatives). ETFs are also subject to the following risks: (i) an ETF's shares may trade at a market price that is above or below their net asset value; (ii) the ETF may employ an investment strategy that utilizes high leverage ratios; or (iii) trading of an ETF's shares may be halted if the listing exchange's officials deem such action appropriate, the shares are de-listed from the exchange, or the activation of market-wide "circuit breakers" (which are tied to large decreases in stock prices) halts stock trading generally. The Adviser has no control over the risks taken by the underlying funds in which clients invest.

Item 9: Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of Trail Financial or the integrity of our management.

We have no information applicable to this Item. In other words, neither John Chesbrough CFP® nor Elizabeth Snyder, nor any affiliated person with the firm, have been the object of any disciplinary or legal action. Specifically, neither party has been the subject of any criminal or civil action(s) in domestic or foreign courts, administrative proceeding by the SEC or other regulatory body, or been the subject of any proceeding by a self-regulatory organization.

Item 10: Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

John Chesbrough CFP® and Elizabeth Snyder currently do not participate in other financial industry activities and are not affiliated with other financial firms.

Recommendations or Selections of Other Investment Advisers

As referenced in Item 4 of this brochure, Trail Financial recommends clients to Outside Managers to manage their accounts. In the event that we recommend an Outside Manager, please note that we do not share in their advisory fee. Our fee is separate and in addition to their compensation (as noted in Item 5) and will be described to you prior to engagement. You are not obligated, contractually or otherwise, to use the services of any Outside Manager we recommend. Additionally, Trail Financial will only recommend an Outside Manager who is properly licensed or registered as an investment adviser.

Item 11: Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

As a fiduciary, our firm and its associates have a duty of utmost good faith to act solely in the best interests of each client. Our clients entrust us with their funds and personal information, which in turn places a high standard on our conduct and integrity. Our fiduciary duty is a core aspect of our Code of Ethics and represents the expected basis of all of our dealings.

The firm also adheres to the Code of Ethics and adopted by the CFP® Board of Standards Inc., and accepts the obligation not only to comply with the mandates and requirements of all applicable laws and regulations but also to take responsibility to act in an ethical and professionally responsible manner in all professional services and activities. This code does not attempt to identify all possible conflicts of interest, and literal compliance with each of its specific provisions will not shield associated persons from liability for personal trading or other conduct that violates a fiduciary duty to advisory clients.

A summary of the CFP® Board's Code of Ethics is outlined below.

- Act with honesty, integrity, competence, and diligence
- Act in the client's best interests.
- Exercise due care.
- Avoid or disclose and manage conflicts of interest.
- Maintain the confidentiality and protect the privacy of client information.
- Act in a manner that reflects positively on the financial planning profession and CFP® certification.

We will, upon request, promptly provide a complete code of ethics.

Our firm and its "related persons" (associates, their immediate family members, etc.) may buy or sell securities the same as, similar to, or different from, those we recommend to clients for their accounts. A recommendation made to one client may be different in nature or in timing from a recommendation made to a different client. Clients often have different objectives and risk tolerances. At no time, however, will our firm or any related party receive preferential treatment over our clients.

In an effort to reduce or eliminate certain conflicts of interest involving the firm or personal trading, our policy may require that we restrict or prohibit associates' transactions in specific securities transactions. Any exceptions or trading pre-clearance must be approved by our Chief Compliance Officer in advance of the transaction in an account, and we maintain the required personal securities transaction records per regulation.

Item 12: Brokerage Practices

Factors Used to Select Custodians and/or Broker-Dealers

Trail Financial Planning LLC does not have any affiliation with Broker-Dealers. Specific custodian recommendations are made to clients based on their need for such services. We recommend custodians based on the reputation and services provided by the firm. Our primary recommended custodians are:

- TD Ameritrade Institutional, Division of TD Ameritrade, Inc., member FINRA/SIPC ("TD Ameritrade Institutional")
- Shareholder Services Group, or SSG
- MTG, LLC dba Betterment Securities ("Betterment Securities")
- Vanguard Brokerage Services

The advisor is not affiliated with any of the brokerage firms listed. None of the brokers supervise the advisor, its agents or activities.

1. Research and Other Soft-Dollar Benefits

We currently receive soft dollar benefits by nature of our relationship with Betterment Securities or TD Ameritrade Institutional. The soft dollar benefits are primarily tools to make the delivery of our investment management services more efficient and effective. Details are included below part 3.

2. Brokerage for Client Referrals

We receive no referrals from a broker-dealer or third party in exchange for using that broker-dealer or third party.

3. Clients Directing Which Broker/Dealer/Custodian to Use

We do recommend a specific custodian for clients to use, however, clients may custody their assets at a custodian of their choice. Clients may also direct us to use a specific broker-dealer to execute transactions. By allowing clients to choose a specific custodian, we may be unable to achieve most favorable execution of client transaction and this may cost clients money over using a lower-cost custodian.

We may recommend MTG, LLC dba Betterment Securities (“Betterment Securities”) or TD Ameritrade depending on the investment management services we provide to a client.

The Custodian and Brokers We Use – Betterment

Trail Financial does not maintain custody of your assets that we manage, although we may be deemed to have custody of your assets if you give us authority to withdraw advisory fees from your account (see Item 15—Custody, below). Your assets must be maintained in an account at a “qualified custodian,” generally a broker-dealer or bank. We may recommend that our clients use MTG, LLC dba Betterment Securities (“Betterment Securities”), a registered broker-dealer, member SIPC, as the qualified custodian. We are independently owned and operated and are not affiliated with Betterment Securities. Betterment Securities will hold your assets in a brokerage account and buy and sell securities when we and/or you instruct them to. While we may recommend that you use Betterment Securities as custodian/broker, you will decide whether to do so and will open your account with Betterment Securities by entering into an account agreement directly with them. We do not open the account for you, although we may assist you in doing so. If you do not wish to place your assets with Betterment Securities, then we cannot manage your account on Betterment Institutional (defined below).

Your Brokerage and Custody Costs

For our clients' accounts that Betterment Securities maintains, Betterment Securities generally does not charge you separately for custody services, but is compensated as part of the Betterment Institutional (defined below) platform fee, which is a percentage of the dollar amount of assets in the account in lieu of commissions. We have determined that having Betterment Securities execute trades is consistent with our duty to seek "best execution" of your trades. Best execution means the most favorable terms for a transaction based on all relevant factors, including those listed above (see "Factors Used to Select Custodians and/or Broker-Dealers").

Services Available to us via Betterment Institutional

Betterment Securities serves as broker dealer to Betterment Institutional, an investment and advice platform serving independent investment advisory firms like us ("Betterment Institutional"). Betterment Institutional also makes available various support services which may not be available to Betterment's retail customers. Some of those services help us manage or administer our clients' accounts, while others help us manage and grow our business. Betterment Institutional's support services are generally available on an unsolicited basis (we don't have to request them) and at no charge to us. Following is a more detailed description of Betterment Institutional's support services:

1. SERVICES THAT BENEFIT YOU. Betterment Institutional includes access to a range of investment products, execution of securities transactions, and custody of client assets through Betterment Securities. Betterment Securities' services described in this paragraph generally benefit you and your account.
2. SERVICES THAT MAY NOT DIRECTLY BENEFIT YOU. Betterment Institutional also makes available to us other products and services that benefit us, but may not directly benefit you or your account. These products and services assist us in managing and administering our clients' accounts, such as software and technology that may:
 - a. Assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping, and client reporting of our clients' accounts.
 - b. Provide access to client account data (such as duplicate trade confirmations and account statements).
 - c. Provide pricing and other market data.
 - d. Assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping, and client reporting.
3. SERVICES THAT GENERALLY BENEFIT ONLY US. By using Betterment Institutional, we will be offered other services intended to help us manage and further develop our business enterprise. These services include:
 - a. Educational conferences and events.
 - b. Consulting on technology, compliance, legal, and business needs.
 - c. Publications and conferences on practice management and business succession.

Our Interest in Betterment Securities' Services

The availability of these services from Betterment Institutional benefits us because we do not have to produce or purchase them. In addition, we don't have to pay for Betterment Securities' services. These services may be contingent upon us committing a certain amount of business to Betterment Securities in assets in custody. We may have an incentive to recommend that you maintain your account with Betterment Securities, based on our interest in receiving Betterment Institutional and Betterment Securities' services that benefit our business rather than based on your interest in receiving the best value in custody services and the most favorable execution of your transactions. This is a potential conflict of interest. We believe, however, that our selection of Betterment Securities as custodian and broker is in the best interests of our clients. Our selection is primarily supported by the scope, quality, and price of Betterment Securities' services and not Betterment Institutional and Betterment Securities' services that benefit only us.

The Custodian and Brokers We Use - TD Ameritrade

Trail Financial participates in the customer program of TD Ameritrade Institutional, Division of TD Ameritrade, Inc., member FINRA/SIPC, and may recommend TD Ameritrade to clients for custody and brokerage services. There is no direct link between Trail Financial's participation in the program and the investment advice it gives to its clients, although Trail Financial receives economic benefits through its participation in the program that are typically not available to TD Ameritrade retail investors. These benefits include the following products and services (provided without cost or at a discount): receipt of duplicate client statements and confirmations; research related products and tools; consulting services; access to a trading desk serving Trail Financial participants; access to block trading (which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions for execution and then allocate the appropriate shares to client accounts); the ability to have advisory fees deducted directly from client accounts; access to an electronic communications network for client order entry and account information; access to mutual funds with no transaction fees and to certain institutional money managers; and discounts on compliance, marketing, research, technology, and practice management products or services provided to Trail Financial by third party vendors. TD Ameritrade may also have paid for business consulting and professional services received by Trail Financial's related persons. Some of the products and services made available by TD Ameritrade through the program may benefit Trail Financial but may not benefit its client accounts. These products or services may assist Trail Financial in managing and administering client accounts, including accounts not maintained at TD Ameritrade. Other services made available by TD Ameritrade are intended to help Trail Financial manage and further develop its business enterprise. The benefits received by Trail Financial or its personnel through participation in the program do not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions directed to TD Ameritrade. As part of its fiduciary duties to clients, Trail Financial endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits by Trail Financial or its related persons in and of itself creates a potential conflict of interest and may indirectly influence Trail Financial's choice of TD Ameritrade for custody and brokerage services.

Custodial relationship benefits as a result of membership to XY Planning Network

Trail Financial Planning pays a monthly subscription to be a member of the XY Planning Network. One of the ancillary benefits of membership is access to the TD Ameritrade custodial platform without regard for a minimum amount of firm Assets Under Management. Trail Financial Planning utilizes the benefit of access to TD Ameritrade's custodial platform.

Other client-custodian relationships

Clients may also direct us to use a specific custodian for the holding of assets, or a specific broker-dealer to execute transactions. By allowing clients to choose a specific custodian, we may be unable to achieve most favorable execution of client transaction and this may cost clients money over using a lower-cost custodian.

Aggregating (Block) Trading for Multiple Client Accounts

Outside Managers used by Trail Financial may block client trades at their discretion. Their specific practices are further discussed in their ADV Part 2A, Item 12.

For investments managed by Trail Financial, we may combine multiple orders for shares of the same securities purchased for advisory accounts we manage (this practice is commonly referred to as "block trading"). We will then distribute a portion of the shares to participating accounts in a fair and equitable manner. The distribution of the shares purchased is typically proportionate to the size of the account, but it is not based on account performance or the amount or structure of management fees. Subject to our discretion, regarding particular circumstances and market conditions, when we combine orders, each participating account pays an average price per share for all transactions and pays a proportionate share of all transaction costs. Accounts owned by our firm or persons associated with our firm may participate in block trading with your accounts; however, they will not be given preferential treatment.

Item 13: Review of Accounts

Investment Management client accounts will be reviewed regularly on a quarterly basis by an advisor from Trail Financial. During the regular review, the asset allocation, investment return, and transactions effected in client accounts will be examined. In addition, reasonable client imposed restrictions will be reviewed to confirm that they are being enforced.

Clients will receive trade confirmations from the broker(s) for each transaction in their accounts as well as monthly or quarterly statements and annual tax reporting statements from their custodian showing all activity in the accounts, such as receipt of dividends and interest.

Trail Financial will provide written reports to Investment Management clients on a quarterly basis. We urge clients to compare these reports against the account statements they receive from their custodian.

Item 14: Client Referrals and Other Compensation

We do not receive any economic benefit, directly or indirectly, from any third party for advice rendered to our clients. Nor do we, directly or indirectly, compensate any person who is not advisory personnel for client referrals.

We receive a non-economic benefit from Betterment Institutional and Betterment Securities in the form of the support products and services it makes available to us and other independent investment advisors whose clients maintain their accounts at Betterment Securities. These products and services, how they benefit us, and the related conflicts of interest are described above (see Item 12—Brokerage Practices). The availability to us of Betterment Institutional and Betterment Securities' products and services is not based on us giving particular investment advice, such as buying particular securities for our clients.

We receive a non-economic benefit from TD Ameritrade in the form of the support products and services it makes available to us and other independent investment advisors whose clients maintain their accounts at TD Ameritrade. These products and services, how they benefit us, and the related conflicts of interest are described above (see Item 12—Brokerage Practices). The availability to us of TD Ameritrade's products and services is not based on us giving particular investment advice, such as buying particular securities for our clients.

Item 15: Custody

Trail Financial does not accept custody of client funds except in the instance of withdrawing client fees. For client accounts in which Trail Financial directly debits their advisory fee:

- i. Trail Financial will send a copy of its invoice to the custodian at the same time that it sends the client a copy.

- ii. The custodian will send at least quarterly statements to the client showing all disbursements for the account, including the amount of the advisory fee.
- iii. The client will provide written authorization to Trail Financial, permitting them to be paid directly for their accounts held by the custodian.

Clients should receive at least quarterly statements from the broker dealer, bank or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains client's investment assets. We urge you to carefully review such statements and compare such official custodial records to the account statements or reports that we may provide to you. Our statements or reports may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities.

The Advisor is not affiliated with the custodian. The custodian does not supervise the advisor, its agents or activities.

Item 16: Investment Discretion

For investment accounts managed by an outside manager, we do not exercise discretion.

For in-house investment management services, we maintain discretion over client accounts with respect to securities to be bought and sold and the amount of securities to be bought and sold. Investment discretion is explained to clients in detail when an advisory relationship has commenced. At the start of the advisory relationship, the client will execute a Limited Power of Attorney which will grant our firm discretion over the account. Additionally, the discretionary relationship will be outlined in the advisory contract and signed by the client.

For those client accounts held at Betterment, the Advisor will have discretion to facilitate the selection of, and changes to, the Betterment Institutional portfolio allocation. Betterment Institutional provides software tools for advisors to facilitate the purchase and sale of securities in the client's accounts, including the amounts of securities to be bought and sold to align with the client's goals and risk tolerance, through a series of 101 incremental model portfolio allocations ranging from 0% to 100% in equities.

Item 17: Voting Client Securities

If your account is actively managed, you may own some securities directly, like corporate stocks. One of the rights of stock ownership is to vote on company issues, similar to a right of a citizen is to vote on matters of leadership and policy within one's country. A request for you to vote, as a shareholder of a private company is called a "proxy."

Trail Financial does not vote client proxies. Therefore, Clients maintain exclusive responsibility for: (1) voting proxies, and (2) acting on corporate actions pertaining to the Client's investment assets. The Client shall instruct the Client's qualified custodian to forward to the Client copies of all proxies and shareholder communications relating to the Client's investment assets. If the client would like our opinion on a particular proxy vote, they may contact us at the number listed on the cover of this brochure.

In most cases, you will receive proxy materials directly from the account custodian. However, in the event we were to receive any written or electronic proxy materials, we would forward them directly to you by mail, unless you have authorized our firm to contact you by electronic mail, in which case, we would forward you any electronic solicitation to vote proxies.

Item 18: Financial Information

Registered investment advisers are required in this Item to provide you with certain financial information or disclosures about our financial condition. We have no financial commitment that impairs our ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients, and we have not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.

We do not have custody of client funds or securities or require or solicit prepayment of more than $500 in fees per client six months in advance.
